Gentlemen—Daily accumulated proofs of the deaths of 17 members of the New York City Employees' Retirement System named in the accompanying resolution, who were in city service at the time of their death, have been submitted to this office by, or with the cooperation of, the several City agencies concerned. Accompanying these proofs of death is the duly executed application of the last designated or qualified beneficiary for the benefits described. Individual reports of all shows are a component part of the payments proposé.

The Board conceives of routes designated on the Master Plan as Express Highways, Parkways and Major Streets, in which a high-speed road is to be provided in a right-of-way acquired in accordance with the Master Plan, as expressed in the Commission's report on the subject of motor traffic control and development of major streets, dated May 28, 1941. It was estimated in that report, that if a properly designed express highway of sufficient capacity, with convenient express connections to each of the East River crossings, were constructed near the Brooklyn-Queens shore front, and if other express routes shown on the proposed Master Plan were constructed, sections of the proposed Brooklyn-Queens highway would be used by Trans-East River motorists in preference to Long Island motor routes, and to a large extent of the traffic which would find it convenient to use a Brooklyn-Queens north-south highway for its portion of their trips, the traffic volume in Manhattan would thus be increased.

The Department of City Planning studied a route from the northern terminus of the proposed Brooklyn-Queens highway to the vicinity of 61st Street and origin or destination on Long Island. Undoubtedly a large part of this traffic would find it convenient to use a Brooklyn-Queens north-south highway; the route has been completed; other sections (including Brooklyn's north side) are in progress. If the route is further extended by the construction of an express highway which is to be designed as an integral part of the north-south route, it will be entirely adequate for the traffic volume anticipated. Between Queens Boulevard and Midtown Highway the route has been constructed as a high-speed road, and in its present stage of completion, with the completion of the Connecting highway near Queens Boulevard the additional traffic from Long Island and Manhattan would probably be accommodated.

It is the opinion of the Commission that Route E40-A represents a desirable general location for a north-south route through eastern Brooklyn and Queens, which would fulfill the requirements for such a route, not previously noted. The proposed Brooklyn-Queens road has the additional advantage of being substantially a straight line, free from grade separation, being of adequate capacity, and having both a high level fixed bridge, or a movable bridge of sufficient height, and would be located entirely on public property.

The Commission is of the opinion that the route which is indicated, as expressed in the Commission's report on the subject of motor traffic control and development of major streets, dated May 28, 1941, will not in any event be required as a part of the Brooklyn-Queens highway, but it would be entirely adequate for the traffic volume anticipated. The route is proposed to be constructed as an integral part of the north-south route, and in its present stage of completion, with the completion of the Connecting highway near Queens Boulevard the additional traffic from Long Island and Manhattan would probably be accommodated.
